She's the one that tore my heart in two
I can't stop thinking of her
She's got this look that cuts right through me right
through me

I've heard it all
I know it's all inertia
Pushing through the door way
I've seen her look this way before
Once again this beautiful distraction
Pulling me back to you
I know we've played these games before

What's going on
What's going on
What's going on

She's the one that tore my heart in two
I can't stop thinking of her
She's got this look that cuts right through me right
through me

I've got the words but I'm afraid to use them
In the time it took to choose them
You turned and walked right through the door

What's going on
What's going on
What's going on
Yeah

She's the one that tore my heart in two
I can't stop thinking of her
She's got this look that cuts right through me right
through me

She's the one that tore my heart in two
I can't stop thinking of her
She's got this look that cuts right through me right
through me

She's so critical

Can't feel my heart slow anymore
I'll keep my eyes closed
Let her go
I'll be all right

She's the one that tore my heart in two
I can't stop thinking of her
She's got this look that cuts right through me right
through me

She's the one that tore my heart in two
I can't stop thinking of her
She's got this look that cuts right through me right
through me
