I've got a penny in my hand
I'll spend it on the thoughts you kept from me.
But you don't understand
My wallet's empty, so is your empathy.
Everything you tried to say,
Everything you gave away
Isn't worth the time I spent with you.
Never worth a dime,
When your thoughts aren't of me, too.

(Let's go!)

I've got a dollar in my pocket and
A check to write off every stupid
Misconception you've had about me.
From the start, it was enough to keep me
Coming back, coming back to this place.
It breaks my heart, every time I see your pretty face.
Now baby, you know it's true,
I'm so broke, I gave everything I had to you.

No! No! This time I won't let go!
Whoa
Who said forever was enough?
It's not right, and tonight
Won't be ours without light.
Whoa
You're breaking my heart, and so it goes.

It's been two weeks since I got paid, and you
Already spend the money I've been saving for you.
Take it all, I'm only paying the bills
And writing songs because you love the sick thrills
That you get when you sit onstage
Waiting for the moment when we get paid.
Baby, it's been years, we're getting nowhere.
Take this penny, and consider it my whole share.

No! No! This time I won't let go!
Whoa
Who said forever was enough?
It's not right, and tonight

Won't be ours without light.
Whoa
You're breaking my heart, and so it goes.

Whoa, whoa.
Whoa, whoa.

No! No! This time I won't let go!
Whoa
Who said forever was enough?
It's not right, and tonight
Won't be ours without light.
Whoa
You're breaking my heart, and so it goes.

You're breaking my heart, and so it goes.

It's not right, and tonight
Won't be ours without light.
It's not right, and tonight
Won't be ours without light.
It's not right, and tonight
Won't be ours without light.
It's not right, and tonight
(Who said forever was enough)
Won't be ours without light.
