Intro:
Evil laughter

Verse1:
You had me set for the rocky road of distruction
Your attitude and life morals need some construction
I squeezed unto my rosary proceeded to chapel
I rather had not met you than taste your poison apple
Your heart is made of wire
Deep inside your soul lives liar
You claim to take me higher but you wish I burn in fire
I wish I would've learned everything about you more quicker
You almost had me with the last drop of your elixir

Chorus:
But I awoke from your evil spell
You became the victim of your own grim hell
After all what you think happy ever afters for Now I can live in happiness forever more

Verse2:
I almost was a goner cause your evil grip was stronger
You knew you had a grip but good destiny said no longer
You showed your true colors like the wolf to riding hood
I shouldve have known your evil antics was up to no good
You chased me so I ran
Tried to find another land
But the trees only laughed, took me back where I began
You thought I ran out of chances but somehow I got lucky
I knew I had one shot so both my legs just went to bucking

Chorus;
But I awoke from your evil spell
You became the victim of your own grim hell
After all what you think happy ever afters for

Now I can live in happiness forever more
