You're not the way you used to be
Was it the weight of your regrets
That brought you down?
Step into the deep end, step into the deep end

But don't hold your breath tonight
Don't look away
You know that it's killing time
We're always killing time today

You're not the way you used to be
You'll not live to regret this
And will you find the strength to let this go
Step into the deep end, step into the deep end

It's possible, but can we let this go after all?

Don't hold your breath tonight, don't look away
Don't waste your goodbyes on the truthseekers' lies
Your brothers and friends may all meet their ends
It's killing time, yes it's the killing time today
