you wake up one day and everything changes you crossed the line and there's no turning back mmm

you caught between the love and the danger it's hard to leave a heart to open up to that chorus

you wish

every time a star falls from the sky

that he feels the way you feel inside

you hope and you pray

keep it all up and wait

as you see yourself lost in his kiss

you wish

you think you know just how to read him and than he throws you right off track and all you know is how much you need him time will tell you where his heart is really at

chorus

you wish

that he feels the way you feel inside

late at night you wonder what he's thinking of it's killing you and all that's true is your falling deeper in love

you wish

that he feels the way you feel inside

every time a star falls from the

you wish
