she's playing with her hair again she brags about him to all her friends she's using him
she's using him
she says the rumors aren't true but doesn't even have a clue she's losing him
she's losing him

[bridge]
a classic clue a classic case of selfishness and saving

[chorus]
don't say you understand the reasons for it don't think your better if you just ignore it don't ask a question if you know the answer don't take her back you know she'll want another chance

his patience is wearing thin and she walks all over him he's letting her
he's letting her
he tries to run he tries to hide bottles it all up inside he's getting worse

a classic boy a classic game of emptiness and tempting fate if all the world could see his face the world would rain for days and days

[chorus]

spoken:she's ripping in his heart and she reaches for the door and its breakin into pieces 'cause its scattered on the floor she whispers in his ear and she puts them in her hand i do wish you'd understand well see regret in all her selfish ways i'm one you ripped too remember this fate

[chorus]
