A row of dominoes falls in a row as the force in Between them continuously flows into a breeze that Billows and blows some trees that crashes into Somebody's window

You say you don't deserve it but you get what you get Living in a family of debts
Sentenced to a life of dollars and cents
Since you traded your friends just to pay the rent

You say what you say and you only hear what
It starts with their lips and it ends with their butts
Working it, jerking it, shirking it off
He stands up, drops trow, turns his head and he coughs

For the good, for the bad, for those who found love
For the first time tonight
For those who found it all, but it never seems right
For those in their awesome fun cars

Cold wind blow me again
Don't make me sad that the world's gonna end
'cause your mothers and your brothers, and your Sisters too will be dead yeah, will be dead and so
Will you, so get off my case.

A row of dominoes, a row of yes and nos
Cause into effect and effect into cause
There's no way to stop them, they're natural laws

You are not who you are, you are just what you do
Till it ends with their butts and it starts with your shoe
Do it for the memory, do it for the taste
Do it for your brain cells got plenty to waste

For the good, for the bad, for those who found love
For the last time tonight
For those who found it all but it doesn't seem right
For those in their awesome fun cars

Get off my case, get off my case
There's plenty more examples of human waste
And if you don't want to see your sons turn to rot
Then teach 'em how to forget that system that you taught
