He had his eyes on me, like he was looking in for more
I didn't have words to speak as I sat there on the floor
He said he had all the time he said he had no where else to be Just felt so nice to have someone wait on me
So I found my words and took a breath
And finally, I confessed

I'll never go back to where we were at not enough good and always far
Too much bad, we're better than that there's just some work we have to do
So I'll take your hand, and pray that we can get past
The things that made us mis-understand
Cause I won't go back, but I will move forward with you

Do you believe in it, do you think you want to try
Do you have what you need to make this turn out right Faith has become my friend, and courage is also at my side
One thing I can not do is make up you're own mind But I would like to throw away the old and plant the new, and watch it grow

I'll never go back to where we were at not enough good
and always far
Too much bad, we're better than that there's just some
work we have to do
So I'll take your hand, and pray that we can get past
The things that made us mis-understand
Cause I won't go back, but I will move forward with you

I'm at a sacred place where I know that I will make A man know that his love is always safe
So I am needing someone, who will do the same I'll never go back, we're better than that... I know

I'll never go back to where we were at not enough good
and always far
Too much bad, we're better than that there's just some
work we have to do
So I'll take your hand, and pray that we can get past

The things that made us mis-understand
Cause I won't go back, but I will move forward with you
And I'll take your hand, and pray that we can Get past the things that made us mis-understand Cause I won't go back, but I will move forward with you
With you
