nights are here strange dilemmas street lights quickly fading and in the room of darkness the scent of her hair floats all all about me nights are here indifferent shadows when i sleep i shield my face and i always dream

the warm lips of a woman
on the edge edge of explosion nights are here unknown tales i put out my cigarette and get up in silence not letting anyone slip into my dreams i take pleasure in every moment and watch her secretly

and i always dream
