Dear people, I've seen something
I can't leave alone or give to chance
No matter how I try

Born from the knowledge of a girl
Thrown into the arms of man
The mother of necessity
The child of war

So I feel it and I need it
And I heed it then I let it be done
Until I know it and I show it
And it grows until we both become one

The sound of the swiss bells
The promise of a young girl
Both falling softly on the white, white hills

Versus a famous face
In the sheen of a Cadillac
See you some other place
Man, I'm going back

To where I'm captured and caressed
And life's undressed and left where living belongs
To where I feel it and it heals
And we've revealed until we both become one

I see the foot of the hill
Embrace the sky and then it's easy
(It's easy)
Forget frame and I
I wonder why and see the real me
(It's easy)

I climb to the top of the tower
I see a shooting star
Reach out to touch it and it falls
Alone

Now that her smile has stuck
I cannot go back to your frown land

Now that her sun is up
I cannot go back to your downland

Because I feel it and I need it
And I heed it and I let it be done
Until I know it and I show it
And it grows until we just become one

So bin your filas, babe
Pull on your shoes
And scale the real heights
(It's easy)

The gifts that goodness gave
Destroy the blues
And leave a love light
(It's everything)

We climb to the top of the tower
We see a shooting star
Reach out to touch it and we fall
As one
