Bless you the forgiven, for you have tried with all ur might to get me thru into the darkness of the night and i scream as an action of unwanted but you insisted and could care less what i want but in the end youll see there cant ever be a forgiven blessed one coz u keep on sinning unto the night ride the ghost train carry me anywhere, oh blessed one sing ur sorrows to me from the graveyard once again ur rolling around in the dark but i can see you and u got that devil's face with devil's hands push up my shirt and forever stay and in the end youll see

sorrows sung by you coz u keep talking thru blessed be thy feet and ground you walk on blessed be thy sun for it shines upon thou blessed be thy rain that washes thy pain away unblessed be thy lover who fell coz she had sinned and pierced the skin we once fell so low ur hand held mine

and refused to let go...
