"Tell Me Why"

its been a couple of months since you left my heart behind cryin' all my tears out as my eyes becomin' blind nothing feels the same cuz i'm so used to being held friends would be concerned of me but never would i tell that i was gettin' hurt by the only one i ever loved the one who was created to be sent to me from above i still don't know what went wrong, or why we had to end not only were you my baby but you were my best friend and now it seems like i've lost everything i ever had everything worth livin' for, flyin away from my hands livin' everyday, questioning myself the same thing you left without a reason, left me here reminicin remember the days we used to share when you told me that always nd forever you would care

now you left me alone, holding on to the fone hopin' things would go bacc to how it was long ago
what made you decide to leave me bacc
there was nothing that you, you didn't have
tell me why

bacc when we was younger, we both each made a promise tellin' each other that we would always be honest of how we felt, what we thought, and soon that day came you took my hand, asked me out, and walked together in the rain we spent hours on the fone, we were close like white on rice playin around, asking me to one day be your wife when they saw you, they saw me standing right next to you matchin' everyday, matchin' clothes, matchin' hat and shoes always dedicating songs we hear to each other always thinking that all of those days would last forever tell me why everything had to come to this you dont understand, there's so much things that i miss

care
now you left me alone, holding on to the fone
hopin' things would go bacc to how it was long ago

whatever happened to the promises you made whatever happened to the future you wanted to create now it's all down the drain, all the time we spent, wasted whenever we had problems, we had always fixed and saved it so why the change of heart, tell me why are we apart when you had told me before that you loved me since the start tell me why you suddenly wanna leave our past behind baby all i'm asking you is to please tell me why (tell me why, tell me why) theres so much pain for me to hide inside but you don't even notice so theres no use to hide i miss the feeling u gave me wen you looked into my eyes and now when i remember the moment all i do is cry the day you left, baby, you took my dreams with you i can't even rebuild them cuz i'm standin alone without

you
stop giving me all the stories, cuz i know that they're lies jus open your heart, look into my eyes, and tell me why

remember the days we used to share
care
now you left me alone, holding on to the fone
hopin' things would go bacc to how it was long ago
what made you decide to leave me bacc

care
now you left me alone, holding on to the fone
hopin' things would go bacc to how it was long ago
