Put the car in reverse
And come back to me
Without you this house is a hearse without wheels
You can't work out which cringing
Which cringing feels worse
When i touch you like this
On the place that it hurts
Give me all that you have
If you don't i will steal it
All the things that you've lost
I can reel them in
I'm falling apart every minute of every day
But you're there to put me back together again
When i don't know where you are
I feel lost
Your trail feels so warm
But i'm covered with frost
When i left in the morning
She smelled so good
Then i whispered quite nicely, quite rightly
I can't make you feel good
You can't make me feel bad
I'll never get you back
So you'll never be sad
