Where you're running you don't know what will be there.

You're sinking in illusions.

When you're tired to hit more uppercuts.

So, call me for requests.

I'll bring you down the sorrow,

Dignity comes back to you.

I can be what you've always dreamt, that's all you've always wanted.

Just from hell, don't be afraid of my aspect.

I'm here to give other chances.

I prefer bury them in the sand.

How I love let them in.

I'll bring you down the sorrow,

Dignity comes back to you.

I am all what you've always dreamt, that's all you've always wanted.

Don't know my past, don't say my name, a privilege for you.

You're asking for a help, I'll rise again to punish the world.

(That's for shame)

I still wait for a new devotion,

In meanwhile I let know my dreadful dance.

While anger generates my assertion,

You can do anything you ever spoke

Inside you, hidden away.

That's time to crush, let's fall.

You forget to know who you are,

You betray to reach what you want,

You kill your world to have all what you've ever had.

You close your eyes not to have to see

The world that's full of all diseases,

You kill your world to have all what you've ever had.
