

Bad Luck

"Blind Game Again"

Visit "Blind Game Again" on MotoLyrics.com

Blind Game Again Quite a worn-out crumpled doll
Shatter the eternally-unchanging nights
Amid the rustling wind, the light around me makes a sound that slips through my memory.
There's a temptation I certainly hadn't expected would be so incomprehensible:
Your pace, with your heart thrown into turmoil.
The night where nothing can be held back has passed for us.
It's yet-unseen conclusion is still an illusion.
Don't Let me Down You're always just flirting.
Cry for the sun I can't see anything at all.
Who is it that's screaming inside me?
Blind Game again Quite an indecisive doll
If it's a dream that can't be reached, well, then -- let's fling it away.
Drastic Game a Game Quite a worn-out, crumpled doll
Shatter the eternally-unchanging nights

These flowing tears have stained me with rampant lies and let my dreams escape.
Ash-gray passion dances in the sky.
Don't Let me Down I'm sure you won't notice
Cry for the sun I want to be broken with you
Let's stop time in the instant when we burn everything...
Blind Game again A misty-eyed doll
The night when those meaningless tears flowed has passed for us.
Drastic Game a Game A doll that only sighs
Shatter the nights that never change, no matter where
Blind Game again Quite an indecisive doll
If it's a dream that can't be reached, well, then -- let's fling it away.
Drastic Game a Game Quite a worn-out, crumpled doll
Shatter the eternally-unchanging nights

Visit Bad Luck page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.