I don't care what songs you sing,
Or how you think of all those pointless things.
Sweet nothings what you bring
So fly away on sugar coated wings.

I'm sinking deep,
I'm going under,
That sugar coated coated iceberg tastes so sweet,
Until you tumble,
Those sugar coated lies.

All those tricky things you said,
On angel wings they're flying round my head.
You were cheap but I was sold,
I should forget you but I won't be told.

I'm sinking deep,
I'm going under,
That sugar coated coated iceberg tastes so sweet,

Until you tumble,
Those sugar coated lies.

Sweet sond, as gold and coal,
A sugar iceberg stole my soul.
Hid it deep inside my heart,
Threw it through me like a
Poison dart.

I'm sinking deep,
I'm going under,
That sugar coated coated iceberg tastes so sweet,
Until you tumble,
Those sugar coated lies.

My little sweet sugar coated iceberg,
You melt beneath my feet.
You shook me up, but then I tumbled,
Those sugar coated lies.
