Together with you the sun was there
I thought that I'd just met my best friend
So much in love, I swallowed your alibis
Didn't we see the Italian movies between those sweet eyes

After the sun the blizzard came
Often unable to pronounce my name
Staring into the inane
Fraking out but not on me
I got the could turkey for free

Tuesday 5 a.m. back from a mind excursion
And as always I got the extended version
The harder you yelled, the more right you thought you were
When I closed my ears, you were all in a stir

After the blizzard nothing came I'm not interested in what you became
No I don't care
I'm working on a new debut
And try to scratch you fo my shoe

You're like a red flag to a bull
And engine without fuel
Every world just crap to fill the gap
Like a red flag to a bull
It's really nothing new Empty head without a vision
I don't consider it my mission
To help you along

Together with you the sun went down
Not for long, because the best friends don't frown
So much in love, I didn't realize
That even a green light can be a red one in disguise

After nothing a new sun came
A clear sky out of the grey
Will you please forget my name
And move out of my way.
