Words of comfort and love
Spoken indesign, turn cruel unkind
You have your ready treasure of sins
And it all begins with an innocent smile
Go on, make a play for her now
While I'm standing here I'll bleed so slow
You may never know

Whisper she's safe
That you sympathize the darkest lies
When you know right now
You'll be gone at the kiss of dawn
Your conscience runs clear
Go on, make a play for her now
While I'm standing here I'll bleed so slow
You may never know
And I won't make a sound
Who am I to lay the blame
When it's all a game to you

You and I misfired
Left me cold and tired
Hey love, it's alright
Go on, make a play for her now
While I'm standing here
I don't keep score, not anymore
And I won't make a sound
Who am I to lay the blame
When it's just a game
No, in the back of your mind
The pattering's starting to unwind
And you know you're alone
And you smile anyhow
When the moment allows
Make a play for her now.
