"In A Different Light"

I see you in a different light
I see you in a different light

I wanna make a movie
I wanna put you on the silver screen
Sit in a darkened room and look at you from a distance

Wanna write a novel
Freeze all your expressions into words Come back later and read about what I should have heard
I see you in a different light
I see you in a different light

I want to paint your portrait
Hang your colors on my wall Discussing form and content with my friends and drinks
And no one thinks at all...

I see you in a different light
I see you in a different light
