

Barbara Cook

"Only Seventeen"

Visit "Only Seventeen" on MotoLyrics.com

Nobody hears when you're talking
Too many tears have you calling What can I do

Why is it no one seems to care

Where is the love you often wonder
Too many nights you wait and wonder how can it be
Why do you feel there's no one there
If only you could steal away somehow
Maybe they'd understand what's the use anyhow

You're only seventeen

Lost in a world where you belong

Only seventeen

Caught in a dream and always wrong
And as the night begins to fall how can you win

You're only seventeen

Wishin and hopin' sometimes prayin'
Wanting to leave but you keep sayin'
Someday soon, sooner or later you'll be free
You know inside your heart that you want to run
But it tears you apart 'cos it can't be done

You're only seventeen

Lost in a world where you belong

Only seventeen

Caught in a dream and always wrong

Though you try to laugh there's a photograph
That reminds you too much of your dreams

There's a chance that you'll laugh with that with that photograph

Which reminds you of what might have been

You're only seventeen

You're only seventeen

Lost in a world where you belong

Only seventeen

Caught in a dream and always wrong
And as the night begins to fall how can you win

You're only seventeen

Lost in a world

Only seventeen caught in a dream

Your only seventeen

Lost in a world

Only seventeen

Caught in a dream (Fade)

Visit Barbara Cook page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.