"Ordinary Miracles"

Change can come on tip-toe,
Love is where it starts.
It resides, often hides, deep within our hearts.
And just as pebbles make a mountain, raindrops make
a sea,
One day at a time, change begins with you and me.
Ordinary miracles happen all around,
Just by giving and receiving, cause belonging and believing.
Every sun that rises, never rose before.
Each new day leads the way through a different door
and
We can all be quiet heros, living quiet days,
Walking through the world changing it in quiet ways.
Ordinary miracles, like candles in the dark,
Each and every one of us lights a spark.
And the walls can tumble and the mountains can move,
The winds and the tides can turn.
Yes, ordinary miracles, one for every star.
No lightning bolt or clap of thunder,
Only joy and quiet wonder.
Endless possibilities right before our eyes,
Oh, see the way a miracle multiplies.
Now hope can spring eternally,
Just plant it and it grows.
Love is all that's necessary,
Love in it's extraordinary way.
Makes ordinary miracles every blessed day.
Every blessed day.
