"Falling"

I've been living
In the valley all alone these days
Solitude ain't ever gonna phase me
Thousands stop and stare but my life is going fine
While two by two I watched them walk the line
I am falling
So they say
I am falling fifteen times a day
I am falling
They call me the walking hurricane
Falling through imaginary flames

I'm sorry for the couple of things I've stolen
I'm sorry for the times I lied
I'm sorry for leaving the toilet seat up
And some of the things I keep inside
I am falling
So you say
I am falling in a thousand ways
I am falling
But you know I'm not ashamed
Falling through their imaginary flames
Falling through their imaginary flames
Falling through imaginary flames
