Hey what do you think about the world today
This is a fine time to let us all know
Hey what do you know about that anyway
This is a fine time to let it all show

I need your attention if you would
I don't want to be misunderstood
I'll show you just what I have in mind
Its not meant to test you
So now just tell me don't ask why

Hey what do you think about the world today
This is a fine time to let us all know
Hey what do you know about that anyway
This is a fine time to let it all show

In light of what you have seen tonight
Whether or not you think I'm right
I don't intend to change your mind
I only offer you the choice
Now you decide

Hey what do you think about the world today
This is a fine time to let us all know
Hey what do you know about that anyway
This is a fine time to let it all show

You sit and stare. You question me
I've shown you all you needed to see
Now here's your chance to prove to me
You know what's right or wrong

Hey what do you think about the world today
This is a fine time to let us all know
Hey what do you know about that anyway
This is a fine time to let it all show

Hey what do you think about the world today
This is a fine time to let us all know
Hey what do you know about that anyway
This is a fine time to let it all show
