Out in the darkness the serpents arise
The fire starts melting the snow
Chains of slavery are breaking in two
So the empire of evil can grow
Myths of the past are undying at last
Hearts pound inside the light of the moon
The wind and the rain, the blood in my veins
The meltdown is coming too soon

Ice cold winter, freeze my soul
There is no place to go
Underdogs are gathering
In a place nobody should know

Release the curse in the smoke and the rust
As the sinner is choosing his way
Sending the plague seven days into the dark
Bringing madness and hell to this day
The undead arise, leave their funeral in despise spread the ash and the dust on the ground
On the way, kill the brave, they march to their grave lead by a terrible sound

Sand of time is running blind
Bitter-sweet is the pain
Purgatory chose its path
It plunges through my lungs and my veins

Terminate, gods on the right
Hunting down the victims
At day and at night
Violence, there is no annulation
The stronger race is feeding
On the weaker creation
Braindead, branded with a mark
On dogs of hell we're riding
With the evil force we bark
Reconning, counting the days
Four ugly demons break your power
As they daze

Muthas of metal are seeking for blood
In their ruins, they're never to tame
The bringer of evil their masters defeat
Defending their realm is in vain
Wars of the heathen the pharaohs speak

Across thousands of years
Spelling history by ringing a bell
As we drown in millions of tears

Twisting our sphere world's end is near
Peace is nowhere
Hiding somewhere senseless beware
Now it's too late to take care
