I turn away, my mind filled with rage
You cannot erase it, I won't stay complacent
In my forced cage
Forfeit my rights for my own good
Reprogramming to be something I could never be
So how can I go on
When I've been restraining for so long?

Din a tomb of silence
Lament every minute, duality within caught in a vice
Disease is spreading, I need some time
You try to take these thoughts from me
But they're mine

Shattered stone
Deprived of my life
Conditioned reality
I will not live your lies
