I want to see you blink again
I want to see your lashes beat with flashes of elegance
I want to see you think again
I want to see your forehead shrink with soreness of cognition
I want you here so don't leave, please

I'm simply not done with you yet
I'm simply not done with you yet

I want to see you speak again
I want to see your careful lips carress every syllable
I want to see you walk again
I want to see your seamless hips slowly keeping you graceful
I want you here so don't leave, please

I'm simply not done with you yet
I'm simply not done with you yet

I'm simply not done with you yet
I'm simply not done with you yet
I'm simply not done with you yet
I'm simply not done with you yet
