I'm surrounded softly by the beat still dumbfounded by the intolerable heat you came close to me and you danced it came close to being my last

I'll take what's mine before I regret it and mute this feeling not to often get

Instantly you struck me as quite a catch luckily I left you with out a scratch

you seem capable of mind control you've disabled my very soul

and mute this feeling not to often get
