I'm so god damn stupid what was I thinking of as if the first time wasn't bad enough no I had to do the second round all over and over and over

I humiliate myself like there's nobody else who can fill these shoes more fittingly than I not as absolutely out of touch as I 'cause no matter how hard I try

the end of the tunnel is light-years away
the end of the tunnel is light-years away

I could cry myself a river if I thought somebody cared that's caring as in-taking care of not in shaking hands winking at each other in between you understand what the hell am I aiming at I should be sick of that you people are evil vile and deceiving but you're the only ones I have

the end of the tunnel is light-years away
the end of the tunnel is light-years away

the end of the tunnel is light-years away
the end of the tunnel is light-years away

the end of the tunnel is light-years away
the end of the tunnel is light-years away
