"Wear That Jacket"

I know a store that shines nightopen
I made some promises and broke them
I know there's something out there clicking
With your hearts deepest wish still kicking
To get out tonight
Let's go out tonight

To a feeling of never coming back
Never coming back

I fell for what others deserted
Crawled down to its heart
Sprawled and knew I'd come to hurt it

I was taken for a ride
I was dropped of sore eyed
Laundry hanging out to dry
Waved at me as I walked by
On warm asphalt
For a second I felt comfort of some sort
A feeling of never coming back
Never coming back

I failed where others wouldn't try
Crawled down to its heart
Because it wouldn't keep me in mind
