Alan Freeman: Paul?

Paul: Yes?

Alan: Now, listen--

Paul: Yes?

Alan: Are you singing?

Paul: Mmm...

Alan: Do you have any particular idol that you've ever copied your singing style from?

John: What about my book?

Alan: John, go away.

John: What about my--

Paul: Used to be sort of influenced by Elvis in the old days, I think.

Alan: Really?

Paul: Yeah, used to love him.

John: What about my book, then?

Paul: Chuck Berry, Chuck Berry, Carl Perkins, and, eh, Marvin Gaye and things. Can't really sing like them, you know. I like them, though, love them.

John: What about it?

Alan: Paul, what about singing "Till There Was You"?
