You leave me hanging on a wire
I can't deny my heart is heavier
Not where I wanna be
You are expecting me to smile
No one informed you I am frowning
So now you wanna leave

I could show you something
Are you wide awake enough?
I am chasing something real
It breaks the heart of me to see
All of your comfort and doubt
All of your pride is poison
It's wearing me out
Don't fade away... don't you dare
Don't fade away... remaining the same

I've asked you where you wanna go
And your reply is that your happier
Right where you wanna be
Could you identify the cause
Could you satisfy your longing
What was or could of been
