How many times has the conception of what is yours just blown away?

Paint me a picture in a still frame that fades to black Your cheap disguise transparent eyes and I know it's you get past the lies that paralyze, is it true

Give time to reason thing that you said would stay the same

Sounds like another fairytale without an end

I'm moving on from this reality

You built for me

Tonight I close my eyes

To find a world that you can't see

I'm throwing gasoline in your fire tonight.

I'm throwing gasoline in my fire tonight.
