What happens when the last polar bear is gone?
Slipping away into blue
Nothing to eat
No warm places to sleep
Can't find his way home in the dark

Open your eyes
watch the sunrise Come out and see what we cast aside
Don't run and hide
Wanna survive
Moment of truth
what will you decide?
(climacide)

When we all fall down
When we don't hear a sound
It's all over now
In the climacide
When the waters rise
and we all close our eyes
Then we all go drown
in the climacide

What happens when the last redwood tree burns
Turning the ground into ash
No more green grass
Colors all turn to black
Caves echo with such emptiness

Open your eyes
Look to the skies
One rose withers
and the whole world cries
No more pretend Wake up defend
How many times
you count stars again
(climacide)

When we all fall down

When we don't hear a sound
It's all over now
In the climacide
When the waters rise
and we all close our eyes
Then we all go drown
In the climacide
(climacide)
