Gone, gone childhood days
Gone in so many ways
All that I have said and done
The castles we have overcome

At last you have found a friend
The sweetest voice will never end
And it echoes down the mountainside
People live and people die

Friendly face will always be
Wrapped up in my childhood days

Old dogs and worn out shoes
Even children sing the blues
How we must endure it all
To save God's creatures great and small

All my world is there and then
The voices come to me again
And they echo down the mountainside
People live and people die

I still can see my Daddy's face
Oh Lord, this is a lonely place

Fast train, train too slow
Maybe you got no place to go
Let me set your spirit free
It's crazy but you comfort me

We share together what we found
The force of love is all around
And it echoes down the mountainside
Little bit of soul we hide

Find us lost without a trace
Oh Lord, this is a lonely place

Gone, gone childhood days
Gone in so many ways
In all my children you can see

What old acquaintance means to me

Dream is mine and here it stays
All wrapped up in my childhood days
And it echoes down the mountainside
People live and people die

Tho I love you for always
I lost you in my childhood days
