Little child, I have found
If I stood up and looked around I'd see a brand new face staring right back at me
I believe, I am sure
That I'm taller then I was before Building a brand new bridge into sincerity

But it's the times like this we must learn to grow
Throw a penny for my children, they are going down
When the light shines down much brighter, many souls
are found
And I can't believe what they're saying in the overground
Throw a penny for my children going down

Listen to the wise man as he breathes
He's really loving me
Loving me
He must be loving me
Loving me

At night I turn my face into the wind
And I whisper secretly Secretly
What means the most to me
And bring him close

Make it bad, make it good
Make it easy to be understood
Well, I see a velvet day breaking across the sky
I believe, I am sure
I am taller then I was before Building a brand new bridge, I know I'm gonna try

But it's the times like this we must find out why
Throw a penny for my children, they are going down
When the light shines down much brighter, many souls
And I can't believe what they're saying in the
Throw a penny for my children going down

Throw a penny for my children, for my children going down

Throw a penny for my children, for my children going
down

Throw a penny for my children, for my children going
down

Throw a penny for my children, for my children going
down

Throw a penny for my children, for my children going down
