These are my last words
These are my last words
What have we learned from this life?
What do we seek in this world?
We defy and we defend
With no time to make emends
Could we lose sight of what we thought
It was meaningless
Burn our bridges
Burn our bonds
Accept the fire within us
Accept the fire within us
Kill what it's best in me
Destroy this perfect dream
Put out what's best in you
In a world so senseless
I hide my feelings
From everyone
In a world so senseless
I hide my feelings
From everyone
These are my last words
These are my last words
These are my last words
These are my last words
These are my last words
These are my last words
What have we learned from this life?
What do we seek in this world?
I've filled my heart
With solitude
Burn our bridges
Burn our bonds
Accept the fire within us
Accept the fire within us
Bring us to our demise
Bring us to our demise
