Awaken!

You're silence suffocates you
Have you got not more opinions to give?
The ones who had always so much to say
Now stand in front of me
With nothing left... with nothing left!

You've got no more stones to throw
As all your feelings turn to hate
Because the world has turned on you
You keep on fighting the winds of fate!

Crippled by denial
Still forcing that pathetic smile
Why do you still try,
To pretend you're on the winning side?
You have to face the reality
The time you wasted now is over
With a single battle won
You sadly believed the world was yours... the world was yours!

You've got no more stones to throw
As all your feelings turn to hate
Because the world has turned on you
You keep on fighting the winds of fate
