Every Word

Written by Tonya Donnelly

So you go to leave

More room for me

Uh uh oh, you gave me too much room

So I filled it up with chairs you can't sit on,

But if you want to stand there, stand there

Uh uh oh, you told me to much

You thought I would leave you

I heard every word, I heard every word

I heard every word

So you go, and it all goes darker

These chairs, these eyes, this room

Closes its windows

These chairs, these eyes, this heart

I heard every word, I heard every word

I heard every word
