[Verse 1]

Yeah

That's not who you use to be you gangster now damn that's news to me

You got your whole swag attitude from me

Don't confuse who you are and who you choose to be (shhh)

Momma told me pray to god for once I said don't worry am common son

What rolls around comes back around again remember back in the day when y'all were clowning him (hein?)

not knowing I was bound to win now his boulevard his squad is down for him

round the town pushing keys moving pounds for him every song is the counseling would you trade a minute of hell for an ounce of sin?

would you even survive the time to count to ten?

what happened to being modest, honest, keeping the promise?

when the fuck did your head get so enormous it's more then a war then it's on when you're called into the room and all of a sudden you ain't got no heart

stop it the music is boring am yawning

by the time your recording am snoring by the time you're performing common

[Chorus]

I can't lie; I don't sleep the same (no) one eye open because people change when

Best friends turn to enemies then

Good times turn to memories

I can't lie; I don't sleep the same (no)

one eye open because people change when (what)

Best friends turn to enemies then

I can't lie

[Verse 2]

behind my back I hear them running around You can run with the head but hunt with the hounds
I found out what you mumble ling now oh what a whole bunch a whose couple of haves
I started you I could end you (end you) Sam says times don't change, men do After all that I have been through Imagine what my enemies can do if that's what my friends do Sacrifice to make it, isolated, private life invaded Name the price I have paid it this is my air my yeah my hind pipe could cave in (breathing)
this advice just take it if you give a word then that is your life don't break it
see people change like seasons the problem is that it's not for the right reasons hell if I go the hell if I go (go) no matter what the price am never selling my soul (never) but bending the road, doesn't mean the end of the road
just tell me you a friend or a foe?

[Chorus]

I can't lie about it yeah
(Don't lie nigga)
These people change
(You know me)
You can't stay the same man
No matter what you do Give them life haha yeah (People cant talk no more)
These people change Haha
Get your fucking mind right nigga Holla at me when you grow up
These people change
Need help
(I worked hard for this nigga)
(Shhhhh Real hard)
These people change
