She wears her dress high as high as she pulls her hat down low she's seeking out the places those other people can't go
and hold her Un-touched by the sea (Un-touched by the sea) she's walking on water when she walks in her sleep she's draggin' me through places I didn't wanna be seen she's a liar as I am a thief because of you I care
because of you I bleed
I wanna know (I wanna know) why the monsters have hurt you so they don't look like those things that we battled so long ago
And I thought I did my part when I pulled you out of there that night you left boot marks on my wall

you are my liar so I will be your thief
because of you I care
because of you I bleed
because of you I bleed
because of you I bleed
because of you we are home now we are home now
