When we all agree
Will you take it gracefully?
And years from now
Will you be forgotten?
I take each day as it comes
But still i assume it's all wrong
I remember me in my infancy
How strange to feel i was braver then

But still
So many harder things lie ahead of me
And i will
Not be swayed by your idiocy
Everything's changed
Everyone's gone
I'm all on my own
As i knew all along
And i remember now what i had meant to say
How strange to feel i was braver then

All i call my own
All i call myself
I have spent so long
Without the change i need
And if i think things through
It doesn't seem too clear
As if there's no importance
In the things i hold most dear
