Closer away from the boundaries
I'm building to break from
Boundless and unrestrained
Building to break them all
We are built to see one way
But watching the lines blur
Our eyes have been gorged out
And fused to see another

I won't let this tear me out of the ground
I will defy the culture that rips me out
And tears me down
I will defy your culture and make this real
We will not die just to fade
Into the air like memories
We will not die
If we live in hearts we leave behind
Then we will never die
And you can't replace them
With the ones you've lost
We're escaping all of your securities
