Like and old man sitting alone at a lunch counter
Never leave lonely alone
Like a small town girl a big city devours
Never leave lonely alone
Some of us laugh even in our darkest hour
Never leave lonely alone

Unspoken rules of solitude
Warmth without a trace
A lifetime of dreams roll down your face.
All that we can't say is all we need to hear.
When you close your eyes does the world disappear?

There's something in everyone only they know
Never leave lonely alone
It moves in the hidden ways of joy and sorrow
Never leave lonely alone

Never leave lonely alone
Never leave lonely alone
Never leave lonely alone
