"Breathe Again"

With a heavy hand the days of reckoning arrive
Salvation on the floor reveals a tortured ego slide
So I lift my head across the sky
I'm drowning
Stabbed with a cross his blood flows leaves a warning sign
Temptation at the door I feel a change is coming around
Lift me up, don't let mirrors hide trapped doors
You lift me high on the piece of your heart
To breathe again, to breathe again
Open doors will you shine
Your mind in war your body seizing everything
Strangles me to the point of our eternity, rise
Lift me up, don't let mirrors hide trapped doors
You lift me high on the piece of your heart
To breathe again, to breathe again
Open doors will you shine
Come and go
Shades on the grass and we all found
The cover-up, I killed it man, I killed it
I had to man, I had to Let it go we're a second apart to breathe again, so
breathe again
Open doors and you'll shine like a flame
Oh you shine, shine like life
Oh you shine, shine like life
Oh you shine, shine like life
