For all of the days when the world seems crazy
All of the nights when you cry alone
For all the times when your heart's in trouble
Facing the storm and you're on your own

Someway, somehow
Even though I feel so helpless now
I know your love will see me through somehow

Someway, somehow
As you turn to me and say
Somehow love will show us the way

All of the times when it's such a struggle
All of the heartache you've ever known
And when the tears seem to come so easy
There's just no joy that you can call your own

Someway, somehow
Even though I feel so helpless now
I know your love will see me through somehow

Someway, somehow
As you turn to me and say
Somehow love will show us the way

When I need a beacon to guide the way
When I feel too weary to face the day
Trying to make it through the darkest hour
You can turn to love and feel its power

I know love will see us through
Someway, somehow

Someway, somehow
Even though I feel so helpless now
I know your love will see me through somehow

Someway, somehow
As you turn to me and say
Somehow love will show us the way

Someway, somehow
Even though I feel so helpless now
I know your love will see me through somehow

Someway, somehow
As you turn to me and say
Somehow love will show us the way

Someway, somehow, somehow
