What does it mean
What does it mean
When you use my toothbrush?

What does it mean
What does it mean
When I pay for lunch with you?

All day, all night, all week and still
It don't seem like too much
I wear your sweaters
And you wear my shoes

What does it mean
What does it mean
When you do my laundry?

How come it's okay that
You use your keys to my front door?
You steal the blankets while we sleep
I steal your last beer
But I guess that we ain't keeping score

This must be love
'Cos what else could make us act the way we do
This must be love
And I think anything else could be to blame
This must be love, oh, oh, oh like it or not

'Cos what else could it mean what could it mean
You drinks my dregs of coffee?
How come it's okay when I buy you stuff
With your credit card?

All day, all week, all month and still
It don't seem like too much
To spend a year with you
Won't be too hard

This must be love
'Cos what else could make us act the way we do
This must be love

'Cos I think anything else could be to blame
This must be love, oh, oh, oh like it or not
This must be love, oh, oh, oh, like it or not
Oh, oh, like it or not, ooh, ooh, oh yeah

What does it mean
What does it mean
How come each place I go seems
So much better if your there?

We light candles, stay up late
Always hate to go
I guess there's no chance
We don't really care

This must be love
'Cos what else could make us act the way we do
Just think it through
This must be love
'Cos I think anything else could be to blame

This must be love
'Cos what else could make us act the way we do
This must be love, oh, oh, oh like it or not
Ooh, ooh, till you believe

Oh yeah, Like it or not
This must be love, oh, oh
Oh, oh, like it or not
