alive in this moment is all that I want to be

I look in your eyes, you're more than a friend to me all I want to say, would it scare you if God's love had it's way tonight

(chorus)

before you know it this could all be gone before you know it life moves us on before you know it love can fade away before you know it this could disappear before you know it we're just a memory here

to live in this hour is all that I want to do but time moves so quickly and precious is the heart that is true

the hard times that we face may frighten us but trust Him, it'll be ok, cause

(chorus)

(bridge)

what lies ahead for us is something no one knows we can't let one more day slip away

(chorus)
