[OPENING NARRATIVE:]

Out of the darkness of the East they came, an Asian horde hell bent on the destruction of Fair Europe. Village after village fell in Flames, raped - conquered - destroyed. Many
A man fought until death, defending against the Endless enemy numbers. Doom seemed certain
For the Western man and his proud culture.
The end of the fairest of peoples and the Mightiest of Nations.

Farmers and knights, serfs and their lords
From the green fields of France
To the Northern Fjords
They answered the call of Otto the Great
To help German brothers
Defend Europe's Fate

The sun shone brightly upon the field,

Armor and horses, red-crossed shields
Grim and determined, thousands did wait
The Battle of Lechfeld was soon to break

[CHORUS:]

Charge- for your land and your Folk
Strike- amidst fire and smoke
Smash- through the enemy lines
Invasion of Europe, Race against time

Magyar destroyer, Christian Knight
The charge had begun, a race to the fight
The alliance held strong in the fading light
On an unknown field on a midsummer's night
At the end of the battle
Amidst thousands of dead
The Great Kings stood, beside their men
A powerful lesson for all to face
If you wish to survive, preserve your Race!
