"Math And Science"

I hear the pulsing in my brain telling me to love.
I feel my DNA push and shove.
I feel the chemical reactions building up.
I see the master plan in action, fooling us.

But no matter what the reason,
I can't help but like the feeling.
If it's all just math and science,
I will offer my compliance.

And now your lips approach mine, just like they said.
And all the thoughts I'm supposed to think, they flood
my head.
And my heart beat races, and I know why.
Everything I do is to keep me alive.

But no matter what the reason,
I can't help but like the feeling.
If it's all just math and science,
I will offer my compliance.

But no matter what the reason,
I can't help but like the feeling.
If it's all just math and science

But no matter what the reason,
I can't help but like the feeling.
If it's all just math and science,
I will offer my compliance.
