there is no bad there is no good and in between I sit here wishing that I could just open up and scream where is the romance
the promised perfection I think I tried too hard there is no day there is no night just paths around the sun we sit here drawing charts of light he's pulling out his gun where is the romance the subtle imperfections I think I know too much

no more
no more
ey ey ey
no more
no more
and they're pushing you to say that you wanted it this way and there goes everything and all my fear I have everything I've ever wanted here there goes everything and all my fear

there is no original thought it's all been done so when you think that you're alone you're not the only one we are all connected and nothing stands between us except for ourselves

no more
ey ey ey
no more

ever wanted here
ever wanted here
